Who could this be, pulling up in a limousine?

During the past spring Lenten season, the Fairway United Methodist Church, as part of their Lenten breakfast celebrations, went giving away free limousine rides to students that attended the breakfast every Wednesday. Approximately 35 children were given treated.

WITF Viewing

AMERICAN PLAYHOUSE's "Where the Spirit Lives," a drama featuring the story of native Canadian Indian children kidnapped by the government and placed on reserves, will air on Wednesday, June 6 at 9 p.m. on WITF TV11.

Set in 1937, "Where the Spirit Lives" is the uplifting story of Amelia, a courageous young Blackfoot girl who is forcibly taken from her mountain reserve by a government agent and placed in a Christian Indian residential school. The school attempts to educate and civilize Amelia, at the same time trying to remove any trace of her Indian culture.

The story is based on a horrifying chapter in Canadian history when the federal government literally kidnapped native Indian children and attempted to remove all traces of their background, culture and language by placing them in "religious" schools. Some school officials even brutalized the children.

Deb's Country Corner

Hello Country Folks,

Hope your Memorial Day went well! Personally, I sat in a picnic with a sweater on, but other than that it was OK. My son and I went to a parade in the afternoon, and in between all the marching groups, and flag waving officials, there was a string of antique cars. I suppose that's getting pretty standard for parades nowadays. But it got me to thinking, and doing some of that reminiscing I do so often. I got to thinking of MY first car. Do you remember yours?

Mine was a 1962, four cylinder, Pontiac Tempest. It was a gray two door, and I suppose it was just fine for a first car. But, as all cheaper models do, it had a few bugs. Like, for instance, the seals around the windshield were no dried out and useless, that if you drove it in a rainstorm your face got wet. I usually didn't drive it in the rain, because I always wore glasses. By the time I would pull over every 3 miles to wipe the mist off my glasses, I never made much headway.

Since the car usually was left sits in the driveway when it rained, my leaks were undetected until I was ready to drive it the next time. Did you ever see those cartoons where you open the door and this tide of water comes gushing out? Mine wasn't quite that bad, but close. There would be about 4 inches of water in the floor well, making for a wonderful musty smell. Its bad when you have to bail your car before you drive it.

About 6 months after I had the car, someone backed into the passenger side door and pushed in into the frame. As teenagers are willing to do, I was willing to make any adaption, just as long as I had a vehicle. So, when I wanted to take passengers, I would roll down the passenger window, and someone would lift in the passenger by the feet, and they would slide onto the front seat.

But it was a car, and it was my first taste of true freedom and independence. Somehow you always remember your first one, uh, car, that is.

Have a nice recipe this week. It's perfect for cookouts, or hot summer lunches. Try those wells in the refrigerator for 2 or 3 days, too.

Cold Vegetable Salad
1 cup fresh or frozen peas
1 medium carrot, peeled and chopped
1/2 stalk celery, chopped
1/2 cup mozzarella cheese, chopped
1 cup fresh or frozen green beans
2 green onions, chopped
4 bacon strips, fried crisp and crumbled
3 tbsps. plain low-fat yogurt
3 tbsps. light mayonnaise
1 tsp. vinegar
1 tsp. basil
1 tsp. sugar

Combine peas, carrots, and green beans in bowl and microwave for 7 minutes, or bring to boil for about 3 minutes. Just until they start to soften. Remove from heat, drain, and rinse with cold water till they cool. Combine with celery, green onions, cheese, and bacon and toss lightly. In separate bow, combine remaining ingredients into a dressing. Pour over the vegetables, and refrigerate until ready to serve.

HOUSEHOLD HINT FOR THE WEEK If you're like me, you use your car's windshield washer a lot. Does the washer fluid seem to just smear the dirt sometimes? Try adding 1 cup of vinegar to a gallon of the washer fluid. This really cuts the road grime.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK. Show me a cow with a sense of humor, and I'll show you a laughing stock.

Bye for this week,
Deb Wentzcak

Weekly HEALTH TIP
SOUNDS LIKE FUN
Men at high risk for heart disease who engage in moderate exercise can reduce their risk of dying from a heart attack by 15 over a 7 year period, say researchers at U. of Mass. School of Health.
"Moderate exercise" was defined as rapid walking, gardening, yard work, home repairs, dancing, and exercise about an hour daily.
The vote was here that "home repairs" idea. Isn't make it two hours daily.
